Bear Dr. Lederberg,

Thank you for the letter which has only just reached me. I have not done any further work on the variation problem since I left Manchester in 1944, so you will appreciate that I should like to look at my lab. notes before replying in detail.

I am finishing a six months visit at the London School of Hygiene this month and as soon as I return to Nottingham I will look up this work and let you have my comments. The reprints are also in Nottingham and I will forward one at the same time. All I can remember at the moment is the terrible number of sub-cultures the work entailed.

Yours sincerely,

Lois Dickinson.
